¹This degree is designed to facilitate smooth transfer to a four-year institution for the completion of a baccalaureate degree in music performance.

²Students will need to complete additional general education requirements in humanities and social and behavioral sciences of the institution to which they transfer. The reduced credits in general education enable students to complete the required sequences of music courses during their first two years, which replicates the distribution of general education in the four-year institutions.

³Students should consult the Transfer Center regarding transferability of elective courses.

Faculty are available during scheduled office hours to advise music students.

Music Faculty: Godwin Chou, Andy Hoefle, Albert Jackson.

South Suburban College is an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Music.

See pages 29-43 for course selection.
